SATISFACTION

FEEDBACK

“It is very good when you can get support, advice and real help from authorized persons in matters of vital necessity. And you are not left alone with your problems”

“The link worker was very prompt in responding to my email inquiries, she helped me get in touch with the responsible person, and my issue began to progress faster. She kept in constant contact with me until the issue was resolved.”

“I received a quick and professional solution to my question without a long bureaucratic delay.”

BILINGUAL SOCIAL PRESCRIBER

“ I think that the most important thing is to listen carefully to people’s concerns, worries and problems. It gives us a good base to build trust, people can see that I care. They are very responsive when I straight away set up a plan of how to help and where to refer.

Most of the refugees had never heard about the British way of life. They had never imagined they would move to Britain, so they have no understanding of the language, culture, or how our systems work.

The most rewarding thing is helping people succeed, overcome obstacles and settle down. I can really make a difference, somewhere to turn for help and make them feel that they are not alone.”
