HOW SIS CAN HELP

As a charity, every person and communication need is important to us. As well as Face to Face appointments, organisations now use telephone and video platforms. Whilst technology can reduce waiting times and keep everyone safer, it does present real issues for those who struggle to use new technology. Add to that a different language and it can become very difficult to deliver your services to those who need them.

SIS offer in-person and remote interpreting options.

Details of each service can be found in this booklet.

FACE TO FACE INTERPRETING

SIS offer high-quality face to face interpreting where the situation requires a linguist to be physically present.

Interpreting is the act of facilitating spoken language communication between two or more parties who do not share a common language by delivering, as faithfully as possible, the original message from source into target language.

TELEPHONE INTERPRETING

When the practitioner and service user are in one location and the linguist is in another location.

2-way telephone call

After the booking is confirmed, SIS will supply you with the telephone number for the linguist for this appointment.

At the time of the appointment, you will call the linguist and interpreting can take place.

When the practitioner, service user and linguist are all in different locations.

3-way telephone call

If your organisation has conference call facilities on your telephone system or your mobile phone, you can use this option.

When the booking is confirmed, SIS will supply you with the telephone number for the linguist for this appointment.

*Please check with your telephone or mobile network provider.

SIS Group call

This option is our most popular and allows all three parties to dial in to a group call. You will be given a Freephone (0800) telephone number for you and the service user to dial into. With this option, SIS can help instruct the service user on how SIS Group Call works..
